

We, at King's High School are thinking of you as you go about your important work. We have compiled some pictures and words to show we are thinking of you. This is the new site on Banbury Road and we would love you to visit when all of this is over!

A poem for you by Rachel in Year 11 'Warriors'

A silent life, a silent death,
Overstretched, out of time,
We save their breath,
Yet in the meantime,
They put themselves in peril,
Fill the hospital beds,
We wish we could cure them all,
But some can't get it inside their heads,
Stay away, stay at home,
To protect those you care for,
There's no need to roam,
Staying at home may be a chore,

But,
Remember the heroes,
Remember the warriors,
Fighting in every borough
Putting up barriers
Don't knock them down,
Protect your friends
Don't let them drown,
Save our NHS.
Go home, stay there,
Pull together,
Everyone must care,
This is a storm we can weather
And to the NHS
we say, God bless!

Hi there,

I hope this note finds you well, despite these highly unusual times. My name is Amy and I am currently in year 11 (so I am 15 years old) at King's High School. I am in year 11 and therefore I would have been sitting my GCSE exams this summer, yet as you may have heard on the news that is not happening anymore. I chose to take Music, History, Latin and French in addition to the required subjects (English Literature and Language, Maths, Chemistry, Biology and Physics). So, during this period whilst all the schools are shut, my days are filled with continuing lessons in all these subjects which means that there is plenty to still learn during school hours. It is at times like these I am very glad that my Grandmother convinced me to begin learning to play the piano when I was 8 years old, so now I also have piano pieces to work on in my free time in addition to learning new pieces that I particularly enjoy.

Due to the lovely weather we are experiencing right now, it is very difficult to stay indoors all day, so I have been going for walks around Leamington, where I live, each day with my Mum (always staying a safe distance from other walkers). We prefer to walk through the parks, especially Jephson gardens, as they are full of beautifully colourful flowers which brighten up the day even further. Today (Friday), unfortunately, despite the gorgeous sunshine beaming through the windows it was actually rather cold, making me regret not taking my parent's advice to take a jacket (one of the many reminders I have that you should always listen to your parents as they really do know best).

I would just like to thank you and your colleagues for all you are doing at the moment . Hope you can visit King's so we can pass on our thanks in person when all of this is over.

Amy

You are really great.

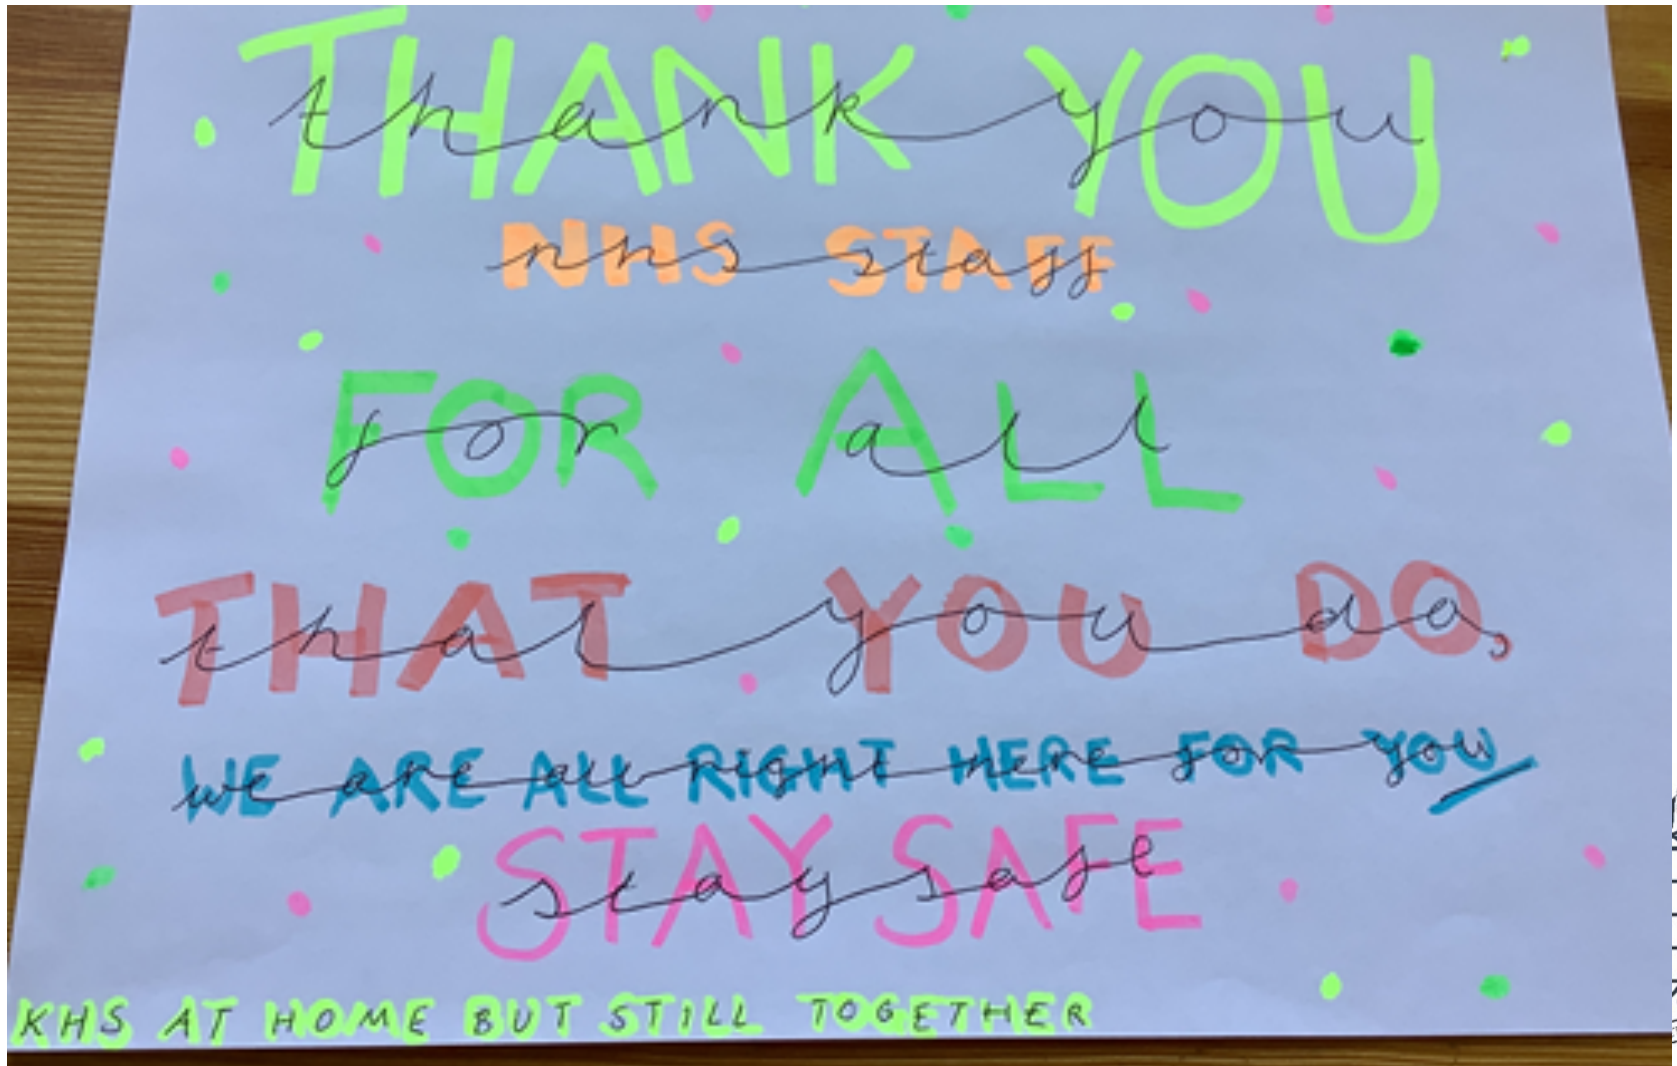

Thank you for all you do.

I have chosen to draw a father and son admiring some flowers and added a quote "carry on and appreciate the little things" because I think that with this terrible tragedy we should be thinking about all the positives in our life even if they are small.

This Too Shall Pass

by Helen Steiner Rice

If I can endure for this minute
Whatever is happening to me,
No matter how heavy my heart is
Or how dark the moment may be-

If I can remain calm and quiet
With all the world crashing about me,
Secure in the knowledge God loves me
When everyone else seems to doubt me-

If I can but keep on believing
What I know in my heart to be true,
That darkness will fade with the morning
And that this will pass away, too-

Then nothing in life can defeat me
For as long as this knowledge remains
I can suffer whatever is happening
For I know God will break all of the chains

That are binding me tight in the darkness
And trying to fill me with fear-
For there is no night without dawning
And I know that my morning is near.

Stars Can't SHINE
without darkness!

Blossom reminds us that hope springs eternal – Mae in Year 7

Isolation
People see this as a negativity,
But I see it as an opportunity,
We are missing our friends,
But pollution ends.
Schools were all closed down,
And we were living in a ghost town.
But our nation came together in time,
And things came to a halt, like knife crime.
Hatred was prevented,
And things were invented.
The NHS battled to save the old,
All super markets were closed and nothing was sold.
We painted the rainbows,
Displayed them in windows.
Gratitude was shown to those who fought,
And our parents who explained and taught.
Kids realised that life was not all about phones,
But our grandparents who cried down the telephone.
Telling us how much they wanted to kiss us,
But now we began to trust.
When we listen to rules,
And answered calls.
This was a wake up call to the universe,
We must thank each heroic nurse.
For getting our citizens back up on their feet,
Because now our life will be complete.
We will unite as a nation once again,
And meet up with our friends.
But use this moment.
For enjoyment.
And the world will be right again.

Some of our birthday cakes!

And our birthday card made by one of our wellbeing mentors in Year 13

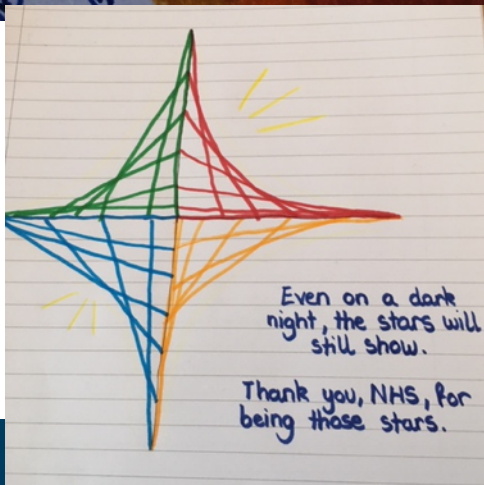

Enjoying our cakes at our celebration last year!

Thank you for all you are doing from all of us at King's!

And more

And more..

Thank you

Thank you for all the work that you are doing for us and thank you for helping anyone who needs it. I did this rainbow painting as a symbol of hope at this time. Fleur
